1708 Gallery's 21st Annual
Art Auction Benefit
SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 2011

On Saturday, April 9th, 1708 Gallery will present its 21st Annual Art Auction Benefit, LUCKY 21. We are proud to welcome this year's Honorary Chair, artist Donald Sultan, whose painting Lemons May 16 1984 is in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts' permanent collection. We are also thrilled to announce that this year's auction will be held at Try-me, a gallery space located at 1623 West Main Street that houses the collection of Bill and Pam Royall.

Take part in the joy of discovery, the thrill of bidding, and bring home new art by the region's best emerging and established artists. Auction Committee Chairs Susan Jamieson and Michael Lease invite you to join us for an exciting evening in support of our 33rd year of presenting exceptional new art in Richmond. "I have chaired this auction for 1708 Gallery four times now and this will be by far the most exciting and impressive line up of artists. New space, new art - a night to remember!" says Jamieson.

LUCKY 21 will include a Live Art Auction and a curated Silent Art Auction, both featuring an exceptional group of over 60 of the area's most respected artists. See a list of participating artists on the next page. As a special feature, we are excited to present a portfolio of Donald Sultan's Playing Cards. We will also have a raffle for an exciting weekend getaway to New York City complete with studio tours of notable artists and Yankees tickets. Long time supporter, Diego Sanchez says, "As a participating artist, the 21st annual auction will be one of the most exciting auctions I have been a part of. It will take place in one of Richmond's most stimulating new venues for contemporary art, Try-me. It is going to be an incredible event."

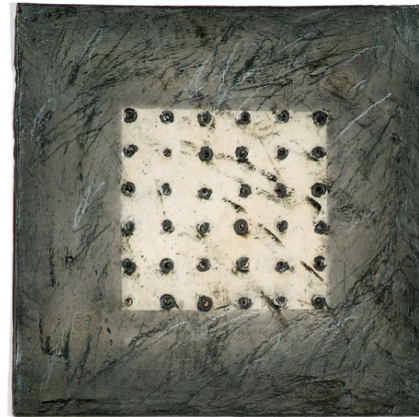

Artists participating in either the live or silent auction include:
